The Jeffersonville Township Public Library seeks to act with integrity in all its endeavors. The Library will act as responsible stewards of public resources, will protect the privacy of all patrons in its operations, and will seek to provide the most accurate information through its collections, resources, and programs.

Community Profile

The Jeffersonville Township Public Library (JTPL) serves a population of 59,062 residents.¹ A full 56 percent of service area residents have library cards. Sixty-four percent of the population is aged 18 to 64 years. Another 22.3 percent of the population is under 18 years of age and 13.7 percent are aged 65 years or older.² A quarter of all households have related children under 18 living in them.³

The racial and ethnic makeup of Jeffersonville Township is more diverse than Clark County as a whole. Among Jeffersonville Township residents 80.8 percent identify themselves as “white only” compared to 87.7 percent for the county as a whole; 11.4 percent identify themselves as Black or African American, compared to 6.9 percent for Clark County; and 6.3 percent of Jeffersonville residents (of all races) identify themselves as Hispanic or Latino compared to only 4.9 percent of Clark County’s population overall.⁴ Five percent of the population is foreign born and a full sixty-four percent of these residents entered the country since 2000. The immigrant community is comprised of people from different parts of the world, but it is worth noting that the Hispanic population of Clark County grew from 1.9 percent of the total population to 4.9 percent between the 2000 and 2010 decennial censuses (Figure 1).

In the 2006-2010 period, an estimated 16.6 percent of the Jeffersonville Township adult population (25 years or older) had not graduated from high school, 36 percent had graduated high school or received an equivalency degree and 16.5 percent had a bachelor’s degree or higher. These figures reflect no significant change in the portion of the population whose highest level of attainment is high school or an equivalency degree, but they do reflect a significant increase in the portion of the population with a bachelor’s degree and small increases in the portion of the population with associate’s degrees and graduate and professional degrees. The overall increase in education levels suggests a good environment for public library support while moderate poverty and unemployment suggest potential leverage points for public library impact.

Nearly sixteen percent of the non-institutionalized population reported a disability, 42 percent of whom were 65 and over.⁵ Median household income was $42,244 and 14.1 percent of households had income below $15,000 a year. These figures confirm the likelihood of demand for services for the disabled and income figures indicate the potential for Jeffersonville Township Public Library to reach populations where public libraries may have the greatest impact in bringing needed services to populations that would not otherwise have access.

⁵ Data on disability were not reported for Jeffersonville Township in the 2006-2010 American Community Survey data set. These figures are from the American Community Survey 2008-2010 3-year estimates (U.S. Census Bureau, "American Community Survey 2008-2010 3 Year Estimates," (2010)).

Summary of Key Components of the Strategic Plan

The JTPL Strategic Plan includes attention to the key concerns included in the state's requirements for planning. The summary of attention to these concerns provides direction on where to find more details on how the library plans to address each item. Performance measures (not included in this summary) provide greater detail on how JTPL staff will measure their progress toward meeting these goals.

Statement of Community Needs and Goals

In order to assess community needs and goals, the Jeffersonville Township Public Library employed a multipronged approach. The planning process incorporated findings from the library's 2012 annual report, 2010 user survey, 2012-2013 nonuser survey, the input of a long range planning committee, library staff, the Board of Trustees, and the comments of residents who attended the community forum (see appendices B-H).

Each of the planning meetings engaged a community visioning process that asked participants to imagine a successful community ten years from now. From that starting point, participants shared their ideas for the library's role in meeting needs to achieve the vision they shared.

The Mission, Vision and Value statements capture a broad sense of community needs and goals and the Strategic Plan embodies the more specific expressed needs and goals.

Abstract: The community needs the library to maintain up-to-date print collections and technology and online resources that support lifelong learning, education, training, job hunting, access to community and family history and broad information resources. Community members would like the library to be a resource for current information on the area. All groups agreed that the library should also function as a site for cultural appreciation and expression, socializing, and engaging in creative and educational activities. In addition, the library serves an important entertainment function that gives residents access to literature, music, movies, and programs free of charge.

Service Responses Included in the Strategic Plan

The planning committee and management staff incorporated all 18 library service responses into the eleven goals that comprise the strategic plan (see Appendix A for New Planning for Results service responses). Priorities over the next few years include attention to ready reference, the implementation of a new Integrated Library System to improve access to all of the library's physical and online resources, development of the Indiana Room for local history and genealogy resources, and ongoing program development to promote creative expression and information literacy. The growing Latino and aging populations will be targets for programming designed to meet their more specific needs.

Assessment of facilities, services, technology, and operations

The user and non-user surveys that informed the discussion provided some assessment of services. These assessments can be found in Appendices G-I. Several elements of the strategic plan include ongoing assessment and evaluation of programs and services to ensure that services grow and change with shifting needs of patrons. For example, all events will include brief evaluations and opportunities for feedback and suggestions.

Ongoing Annual Evaluation

JTPL Director Libby Pollard and the management team will use the three year strategic plan to create annual work plans. The performance measures and dates included in the strategic plan will be used as a guide for the work and each year, in conjunction with the completion of the Annual Report, the management team will assess progress on all performance measures, adjusting the plan as needed to accommodate changes and new opportunities.

Financial Resources and Sustainability

The JTPL is funded by a property tax levy. In 2009 the state of Indiana passed legislation that capped property tax rates. This change has a significant impact on the library's annual funding. In order to plan for variation in the annual impact of this change, JTPL contracts with Umbaugh, who provides a revenue estimate, and the library adjusts the budget accordingly. Additional tax policy changes could further impact the library's revenue. The JTPL Director and Board of Trustees will carefully monitor changes.

The JTPL staff will engage in networking and grant writing to access new sources of support for programs and services. The library plans to explore developing a library foundation to raise funds for sustainable supplemental funding. Performance measures provide detailed plans for meeting these objectives.

Goal 11: Diversify funding sources.

Objective 11.1: Outreach to local businesses.

Objective 11.2: Increase grant writing.

Objective 11.3: Develop new strategies and structures for fund development and financial support.

Collaboration with Other Public Libraries and Community Partners

Goal 1: The Jeffersonville Township Public Library will develop tools, programs, and resources to help patrons succeed in pursuits across the life course.

- Objective 1.4: Participate in a community common read and program series in collaboration with the IU Southeast Common Experience and the New Albany-Floyd County Public Library (2014-2016).

Goal 4: Business owners and non-profit managers will have access to the information resources they need to develop and maintain strong, viable organizations.

- Objective 4.2: Library staff will make connections with relevant community partners to ensure that they know what is available at the library for small business owners and organizations.

Strengths, Weaknesses, Opportunities and Threats

JTPL staff members, the planning committee, and the Board of Trustees participated in discussions of the library’s strengths, weaknesses, opportunities, and threats (SWOT) with regard to executing the plan.

Strengths	Weaknesses
<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Staff • Patrons • Plan for the Indiana Room • Board • High credibility • Volunteers • Friends of the Library • Networking and participating with the Downtown Merchant Association and Main Street to promote services. • Leadership: Director and Board 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Size of staff (particularly in light of the following items): <ul style="list-style-type: none"> ○ School and community organization liaison. ○ Need for new website and to maintain website and active presence in social networking. ○ Communications and public relations. • Aversion to rapid change (among both staff and patrons). • Patron demographics. • Keeping tech knowledge up-to-date.
Opportunities	Threats
<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Diversifying community. • A library foundation. • Marketing and public relations efforts. • Leveraging relationships. • Evolving role of books—people reading e-books and fewer physical books. • Managing transition from books to digital resources—need to track annual data so JTPL can be proactive and not reactive in this transition. 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Funding. • Low level of public support for taxes to support the library. • Perception that libraries are no longer needed. • Attitudes toward the homeless. • Homeless patrons. • Mentally ill patrons. • Major transportation changes. • Development in the county may shift population and funding base outside of township. • Events and businesses in downtown may promote longer hours to increase traffic in downtown, but library has a harder time increasing hours because their income does not increase as the result of being open more.
